

Global Policy Institute

the Global Policy
Institute

Policy Analysis in a Changing World

LONDON
metropolitan university

You are cordially invited to attend the following Global Policy Institute event:

Don't stop believing: The state and future of UK occupational pensions with

Con Keating (EFFAS-EBC)

Chaired by Sam Whimster (University of Bonn/GPI)

Date: 28th September 2011 at 5.45pm

Location: Main Lecture Theatre, 31 Jewry Street, London EC3N 2EY (MAP)

In the second of Con Keating's lectures on the state of UK pensions, discussion will focus on the present state of occupational pensions and the reasons for the decline in funded defined benefit (DB) provision in the UK. He will argue that collective DB is an efficient institutional design and propose remedies capable of resuscitating this ailing sector. The meeting will be chaired by Sam Whimster. Presentations will be followed by questions from the floor and a drinks reception.

To register your attendance please send an RSVP email to events@gpilondon.com

Global Policy Institute, 31 Jewry Street, London EC3N 2EY, www.gpilondon.com

