ZOOM MEETING

5:30 pm – 7:00 pm

Welcome to the programme for our last "virtual" panel discussion of 2020. This will be the tenth session and judging by the numbers joining they have been popular, and a valuable alternative given the restrictions caused by the pandemic. The subject this time is all about DC pensions and what we can learn from the experience of other national systems. We have three real subject matter experts and potentially the findings from some brand new research by the PPI so it promises to be another action packed and educational 90 minutes -with international comparisons and lots of scope for discussion and debate. I do hope you can join us as we bring the TPNW curtain down on what has been a desperately difficult year for us all. We will be continuing with the panel sessions during 2021 – there is no shortage of fresh topics to discuss – and to be first to find out more details join the discussion on the 17th. If for any reason you are unable to make it can I wish you greetings of the season and hopefully a more "normal" 2021. But I hope to see as many of you "virtually" as possible on the 17th when we can have an early toast to Christmas and the New Year.

Discussion Topic

"DC – lessons from abroad"

Panellists

David Harris
Managing Director
TOR Financial Consulting Limited

Daniela Silcock
Head of Policy Research
Pensions Policy Institute

Tim Gosling
Head of Pension Policy
B&CE

David will be known to many of you having spoken at TPNW in the past. He is an international expert on defined contribution pensions systems and wrap platforms. He founded TOR following a career with the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission and as a senior consultant with Watson Wyatt in the UK and Washington DC. He can always be guaranteed to be entertaining and maybe even controversial!

A familiar face at TPNW Daniela leads the PPI Policy Research team. Aside from her research experience she undertakes a lot of media work involving a variety of domestic and international audiences, including radio and television appearances. Daniela originally joined the PPI in 2008 and had a brief spell at DWP in 2012. She will be sharing some of the PPI's recent research findings on international DC.

Tim joined B&CE from the Pensions and Lifetime Savings Association (PLSA) in 2015 and has worked on developing B&CE's pension policy including delivering value for money in DC pensions. He has co-authored - with Gregg McClymont and Andy Tarrant - a book "Towards a New Pensions Settlement: The International Experience" and will be drawing on some of that material during the discussion.
